BULLETIN.

A box containing Mr. Emsheimer's private papers was removed from the safe and carried over to police headquarters early this morning. The box contained Mr. Emsheimer's will dated Aug. 22, 1912, leaving everything to his wife. It was witnessed by his closest friend and confidant, Theodore Ascher. The box also contained a number of life insurance policies, ten of which were for amounts totaling $6,000. They were issued through the S. James & Co. of 175 West Jackson boulevard. There was also an unpaid note for $3,354, signed by Mr. Emsheimer's son-in-law, Harry A. Sacha. It was dated May, 1910.

More than thirty hours have passed since Emil Emsheimer was found strangled with a piece of clotheline in the hallroomlike office of his hat frame factory at 21 East Lake street. Not a single clue as to the identity of his slayer or slayers has been obtained.

Police are unable to supply a motive. Every effort on their part to begin the task of getting "leads" on Chicago's latest mystery has been hampered by the reticence of relatives and tardiness of finger print and identification experts in getting the job done.

Clew-Seeking Blocked.—Every single paper or document that might supply a motive or give a hint as to the slayer is locked up in the office just as they were found, under guard of two policemen, acting under orders from Capt. William P. Evans, chief of the bureau of identification.

Capt. Evans visited the office yesterday, picked up a few articles, peered into the safe, did not remove anything from it as far as could be learned, and then closed it again. He carried off the things he had selected and announced that the police could not begin their examination of the man's effects until this morning. Capt. Evans, with an air of mystery, said he had found nothing of the case so far.

Trace Employees' Movements.—Chasing at the hands under which they are compelled to work, the police did what little they could do toward tracing Mr. Emsheimer's movements and the movements of his employees last Saturday, and towards ascertaining how the murderer if there was one gained access to the building. What leads they could pick up were supplied by Victor Moran, foreman of the factory.

He gave the names and addresses as near as he could give of the four other employees in the factory.

The police were handicapped by the fact that they were unable to obtain the payroll in the office.

What Police Have Found.—They learned, however:

Mr. Emsheimer was a methodical business man, prompt to pay his bills, keep and alert, and moderately successful, at least up until a year ago. At that time he had forty employees. At the time of his death this figure had been reduced to four and his payroll totaled about $54. He worked his few employees in shifts so that all might work part of the time. He had no enemies or business trouble further than an alteration with a foreman whom he discharged three weeks ago.

The crime was committed sometime after 4:30 o'clock, and probably after 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The supposed murderer probably entered through the front door, and not through the rear window.

Mr. Emsheimer might have been struck on the back of the head before he was slowly strangled.

There probably was little money in the safe.

Mr. Emsheimer had $5 at 1 o'clock on the afternoon of his death. Only 50 cents was found in the office.

Borrowed $5 from Sacha.

The police were enabled to trace Mr. Emsheimer's movements partly until 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when he visited the jewelry store of his son-in-law, Harry A. Sacha, at 132 North State street, and borrowed $5. Mr. Sacha told the police his father-in-law was wearing his new suit, and had forgotten to remove his small change from the old one when he left home in the morning. Mrs. Emsheimer said her husband had noticed several buttons missing from his workaday suit, and for that reason he decided to wear the new one.

Then the police set to work to establish at what time Mr. Emsheimer returned to his office, which he had left before noon.

STRANGEST CRIME IN CITY'S HISTORY, DETECTIVES' VIEW

CAPT. O'BRIEN—If it is suicide it certainly is a unique method—a far-fetched affair. I do not remember anything so mysterious as this case in all of my experience. If it is murder, either some one came to steal papers from the safe, was surprised at the theft, and strangled the victim, or there was some motive other than robbery. There is some probability of the latter being true.

Detective Sergeant John Anderson—Suicide might be possible. The fact that the rope was tight enough on the dead man's neck not to have untwisted before the body was discovered shows it would have remained tight without being held until the victim had been choked to death.

Cooker's Physician H. G. W. Balakart—Death may have been suicidal. There is a bruise on the back of the head which might have been caused by a blow or by the victim falling to the floor.

Chief Gleason—If it is murder I am not convinced the motive was robbery.

First Deputy Schaeffer—I intend to lend all the assistance I can in unravelling this crime. It is one of the strangest cases I ever heard of.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 29.—A review of the military operations in the last week in the region of Lods, as given out semi-officially here, indicates that the German army under Gen. Mackensen has been cut in three parts.

BULLETIN.—The right wing is still struggling fifteen miles southwest of Lods in an attempt to unite with the column sent to its assistance from Wielun. The center is ten miles northeast of Lods, and is still engaged in a desperate effort to cut its way west to rejoin the left wing, which is partly cut off from the strongest position on the Vistula river. This army is moving back and city which has been conducted in six different centers under the auspices of the Presbytery board of church extension.

Fearless Love
Will End War,
Says Bryan

Asserts No Dreadnaughts
Nor Siege Guns Will Bring Peace.

ASKS 'DRYS' TO UNITE

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.—"Love, not dreadnaughts and siege guns, is to bring peace to warring Europe."

Secretary of State Bryan took this for his text and preached a sermon with as much fervor and emphasis on the spiritual as any ordained minister ever used in the pulpit.

He spoke before the Presbyterians of Chicago to an audience which filled every seat in the Auditorium to the topmost gallery. More than 1,000 officers of the church and more than 100 ministers were present. The ministers wore gowns and marched in a procession to the platform. The event marked the climax of church and city week which has been conducted in six different centers under the auspices of the Presbytery board of church extension.

Fear Basis Harbofore.—

"The nations of the world have dealt with each other on the basis of fear," Mr. Bryan said.

"The flag has represented a power of which the world has been afraid. Why don't the nations learn that the only foundation on which nations can dwell together is love?"

"Nations which have been built on force have died. Those which have trusted in armies and fleets have gone down. Why do not the nations learn that righteousness is mightier than dreadnaughts?"

"By the law of God punishment comes to the wrongdoer. This is a law for nations as well as for individuals. In the language of Wendell Phillips, you may build your capitol to the skies, but if they rest on injustice they will tum down."

Denounces Liquor Traffic.—

Mr. Bryan denounced the liquor traffic in unmeasured terms and ridiculed skepticism and infidelity.

"I once heard of this test of insanity, which may be applied to the evils of the liquor traffic and other forms of civic wrongdoing," he said.

"Put a man in a tank of water. Give him a pump and let the water continue to run in the tank. If he works the pump without shutting off the faucet he is insane."

"The first time I ever spoke on temperance was in Chicago in this auditorium under the auspices of the Catholic Total Abstinence society. I have wondered ever since why the Christians of this country do not combine to overthrow the liquor traffic.

Russian Center Balks Germans.—

The alleged failure of the German plan is attributed to what is termed a reckless attempt to cut the Russian center line.

Russian experts declare this situation is almost unprecedented in the history of warfare.

In the opinion of these experts the operations will not result in the complete surrounding of the Germans, but they declare that the purpose of the German campaign against Warsaw has been frustrated.

See More Than Million Dollars.—

It is estimated that there are 1,000,000 Masons in the United States, and it is hoped to secure at least one dollar each from them.

This city will be made the headquarters for the collection and distribution of the funds, which will be sent to the grand lodges of the countries at war, with the exception of Austria and Russia, where there are no grand lodges, and where the relief mopey will be distributed through other sources.

Masons to Benefit All.—

The relief will not be confined to Masons or their families, but will be given to all the suffering as far as practicable.

Col. William B. Melish of this city was named as chairman of the executive committee which will have active charge of the work.

At the meeting tonight Arthur MacArthur of Troy, N. Y., was elected president.

KAISER'S
EAGER TO
AT BRITIS

smaller in the woods along the Berchems Ae canal.

The English cavalry moved toward Haarlemeen, clearing the way for two army corps which advanced rapidly. For several days the progress of the British was only slightly interrupted, except at La Basses, a high position, which Gen.
French mentions as having been subsequently recrossed.

Gen. French says the Second corps,
Gen. Gough, south of Herstal, was opposed by overwhelming forces of Germans, but advanced until Oct. 15, when the enemy's opposition forced a reinforcement. Six days later the Laibach division of the Indian army was sent to support the Second corps.

Brave Foot by Rawlinson.
On Oct. 16 Sir Henry Rawlinson, who had covered the retreat of the Belgian army from Antwerp with two divisions of English cavalry and two divisions of French infantry, was stationed at the line east of Ypres under orders to operate over the ground held by the allies to the west, so that the first army corps could reach Ypres.

Gen. Rawlinson was opposed by superior forces and was unable to prevent the Germans from getting large reinforcements. With four army corps holding a much longer territory than their size justified, Gen. French says he faced a serious situation. The enemy was massed from the Lys and the Scheldt, and the British needed a strengthened line of

Gen. French decided to send the First corps north of Ypres to stop the German reinforcements, which might enable them to flank the allies and gain access to the channel ports. Sir Douglas Haig with the First army corps was sent Oct. 19 to capture Bruges and drive the enemy back toward Ghent if possible.

Take Defensive Near Ypres.
Because of the overwhelming numbers opposing his troops, Gen. French ordered a defensive role by the three army corps located north of Ypres. While Gen. Haig made a slight advance, Gen. French says it was wonderful that he was able to advance his corps to the head roads and the overwhelming numbers of Germans.

The fighting gradually became bayonet fights. Oct. 21 brought forth the hardest attack, made on the First corps at Ypres, and in the checking of which the Worcestershire regiment displayed great gallantry. This day marked the most critical period in the great battle, according to Gen. French, who says the recapture of the village of Oudenhove through a rally of the Worcestershires was fraught with much consequence to the allies.

Heavy Attacks Near Ypres.
Gen. French goes on to say that while the whole line continued to be heavily pressed, the enemy's principal efforts from Nov. 1 had been concentrated upon breaking through the line held by the First British and the Ninth corps, and thus gaining possession of the town of Ypres. About Nov. 10, while several units of these corps had been shattered in futile attacks, Gen. French continues, a division of the Prussian guards, which had been operating in the vicinity of Arras was moved up to this area with great speed and success.

Gen. French pays high tribute to Sir Douglas Haig and his divisional and brigade commanders, who, he says, "held the line with marvelous tenacity and undaunted courage."

High praise also is paid to the Third cavalry division under Maj. Gen. Julian Tyson, whose troops "were repeatedly called upon to restore situations at critical points and did gallantly in the line, caused by the tremendous losses which occurred."

Gen. French makes special mention of
Col. Gordon Cheyne Wilson of the Royal Horse Guards, Maj. the Hon. Hugh Dawney of the Second Life Guards, and Brig.
Gen. M. G. Lawrence of the Irish Guards, who, he says, "on many occasions, was conspicuous for the skill, coolness, and courage with which he led his troops."

AMERICAN HELD AS A SPY.
Edward Bright Imprisoned at Goettingen, Germany, Wife in New York.

New York, Nov. 20.—Edward Bright,
an American citizen, graduate of Columbia and formerly editor of the Baptist Examiner, is under arrest at Goettingen, Germany, charged with being a spy, according to information received by his wife in this city.

Mrs. Bright got word recently that her husband was imprisoned on Oct. 17, and after appealing to the state department at Washington she decided today to make her information public.

Mr. Bright, with his family, had resided at Goettingen for nearly ten years.
Mrs. Bright said. He was studying at the University. Mrs. Bright, with her two sons, came here shortly before the war began.

The state department at Washington today cabled Ambassador Gerard to investigate the case of Bright.

ALLIED ARMIES MAKE SOME GAIN IN WESTERN FIELD

French Report Shows Advances
at Several Places Along Great Front.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The Germans in Belgium and France except for some minor infantry actions have confined their activity to bombing the allied positions, but with somewhat heavier fire than they have been using. This is the opinion of the Germans who are sending troops and artillery to the east, to use against the Russians, and that they are preparing a new attack against the allies.

That the German enterprise in Flanders will not be repeated for the present seems probable, as the allies have been allowed to capture some points of vantage around Ypres, which were previously considered necessary to the German plan.

There has been a minor attack near Arns, but not in strong enough force to suggest that the Germans have decided to try to get to the coast by direct route from the area.

French Official Statement.
On Nov. 20 the enemy's commanding
officer in Paris this afternoon says:

"On Nov. 20 the enemy's commanding officer was more active, but carried on chiefly with seventy-seven millimeter pieces.

This heavy artillery has made itself felt little. Under these conditions the artillery struggle has turned particularly to our advantage."

In Belgium our infantry captured several supporting positions to the north and to the south of Ypres. In the country to the north of Arras one of the three attacks underway by nearly three attacks, which has definitely failed after several days of continuous fighting carried out in all directions.

Makes Progress Near Chatillon.

Between the Somme and Chalons we have made perceptible progress. In the neighborhood of the village of Fay our troops came into contact with the wire entanglements of the defense.

In the region of the Aisne between Vally and Berry-Au-Bac a group of machine guns and a cupola [foundation] for thirty centimeter pieces were destroyed by our shells, one of which caused an explosion in one of the enemy's batteries.

"In the Vosges three counter attacks underway by the Germans for the purpose of recapturing ground previously taken by us in the Bane-de-Bas region were repulsed."

GERMANS SPLIT IN THREE PARTS

Duchy of Luxembourg Gets $37,500.
According to Dispatch
in Temps

PARIS, Nov. 20.—Germany has paid an indemnity of $37,500 to the Duchy of Luxembourg, according to a dispatch to the Temps from Bordeaux.

One of the first acts of Germany after the beginning of war was to invade on Aug. 2, the Duchy of Luxembourg. This action was criticized by the allied nations as a violation of neutral territory.

The payment of an indemnity, if made as reported, presumably would be intended to recompense Luxembourg for Germany's act.

Russia Raises Relief Funds.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 20.—The Russian council of ministers has appropriated large sums for relief houses, work for the support of families of school teachers whose wage earners are at the front.

Churches the World Over Urged to Work for Peace

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America re-cured at headquarters here today an appeal from leaders of Protestant churches in several neutral European countries urging churches throughout the world to serve for peace.

Their Appeal for Peace.

The text of the appeal follows:

"We, servants of Christ, address to all those who have power or influence in the matter, an earnest appeal to keep peace
before their eyes, in order that bloodshed soon may cease. The war is causing unendless distress. Christ's body, the church, suffers and mourns. Mankind itself cries out, 'O Lord, help us!'

"We remind our Christian brethren of various nations that war cannot subdue
the bond of fraternal union that Christ has in his hands. Our faith perceives what the eye cannot see. The strife of nations must finally serve the dispensation of the Almighty, and all the faithful in Christ are one. Let us, therefore, call upon God that He may destroy hate and enmity, and in mercy ordain peace for us.
His will be done."

Signers of the Appeal.

The appeal originated with the Rt. Rev.
Nathan Soederblom, archbishop of Upsala, Sweden. It is signed by Ostend Bishop of Sealand, Denmark; Gustaf Johann, archbishop of Abo, Finland; Pastor Leemans, president of the Reformed church of Holland; Pastor De-moor, president of the Dutch Reformed churches of Holland; Pastor Heijnen, representative of the Reformed Church of Belgium; Pastor Heijnen, Reformed church of Holland; Pastor H. J. H. van Amsterdam, president of the Restored
Lutheran church; J. E. T. Lundberg, Bishop of Christiansia, Norway; Nathan Soeder-blom, Pastor R. Berne, president of the Conferences of the Reformed Churches of Switzerland, and Pastor Armand Ducquet of Geneva, moderator of the company of pastors. It is signed also by Bishop Joseph Ferencz of Kolozsvar, Hungary.

Cardinal Presbiter Dryander of Berlin; Cardinal von Bismarck-Briest, Bishop of the Archdiocese of Canterbury sent letters explaining that as officials of state churches in heathen countries they were unable to sign the appeal, but expressed interest in the plan.

Films by "Chicago Tribune" Photographer Are Exhibited in Thirty-ninth Street Theater.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—[Special.]—The Popular Motion Picture company exhibited tonight at the Thirty-ninth street theater
the first time in New York the Belgian battlefield motion pictures.

The fighting and the trail of ruin and desolation that follows in its wake is shown in a series of remarkable films.

The pictures were taken in Belgium by Edwin F. Weigt of the Chicago Tribune staff, with the permission of the Belgian government.

Scenes from the battles of Termonde, Alost, and Malines are shown. The fall of Antwerp and the flight of the refugees to Holland are also pictured. One of the most dramatic pictures is of the explosion of a shell tearing to pieces a house just back of the firing line near Termonde. Mr. Weigt made the Antwerp pictures when the Germans were shelling the city.

VON DER GOLTZ TO TURKEY.

German Commander of Belgian Conquered Territory Attached to Sultan's Entourage.

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—Field Marshal Baron von der Goltz has been relieved from his position as military governor of the portions of Belgium under German control and attached for the remainder of the war to the entourage of the sultan of Turkey.

Gen. Freiherr von Bissing has been nominated as successor to Gen. von der Goltz.

It is said that Zekiel Pasha, former commander of the Turkish troops, has been attached to the suite of Emperor William as an expression of the present relations of Turkey and Germany.

In the battle before Cracow the Russians claimed they took 30,000 Austrian and German prisoners, but victories in Poland were not meant to mean that Cracow will not be the Russian advance in Silesia from the south, but that, with the Austrian army beaten, it will be necessary only to smash the fortress.

A dispatch to Reuter's telegram company from Petrograd says that trophies captured by the Russians at Loda, together with several captured cannons, have arrived in Warsaw.

DUTCH DECLINE U.S. AID IN CARE OF REFUGEES

Holland Holds Obligation to Belgians Is One of National Honor.

THE HAGUE, Nov. 20.—The Dutch government has categorically declined all offers of financial aid for Belgian refugees in Holland which were recently unofficially offered by an American charity.

While deeply appreciative of the general proposal, the government says it feels that it would be inappropriate with the country's present aims to align itself with an individual association to assist in this work, and that Holland desires to preserve itself for all those different neighboring countries who are affected by the war.

Of the million Belgian refugees who died from Holland at the beginning of the war, 200,000 penniless ones remain. One half of these are living in the two southern provinces of Brabant and Zeeland. The remainder are divided among 300 communities.

Winter is approaching and these refugees are now being gathered together in especially constructed camps situated on the dunes of Hecht, and other healthy spots. For this purpose a special budget of about $1,000,000 has been passed to cover the expenses until January. After that a further credit of $2,000,000 will be given.

REPORT ON RELIEF.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The Rockefeller foundation has a statement issued tonight saying it has received from its war relief commission, which has already reached Rotterdam, a very favorable report on the efficiency of the organization for the distribution of food and clothing for the needy Belgians.

Wynche Rose, chairman of the foundation's commission, reports that the need of additional supplies is still most urgent and that contributions of 40,000 tons in addition to the cargoes already assigned must be shipped during December.

Will Send More Food.

Arrangements have been made, the foundation states, for the transportation of 20,000,000 pounds of food to reach the suffering Belgians before the first of the year.

In addition to the steamer Massapequa, which is now returning to New York for a second voyage after carrying the first cargo of food from the Rockefeller foundation, the Agamemnon, Nederlands, and Ferron have been obtained for the foundation. The latter are to be loaded within a few days, the former with a cargo entirely contributed by the Belgian relief organizations and the other ships with cargoes supplied by the foundation. Arrangements also are being made for other ships.

The American commission for relief in Belgium has also arranged for the dispatching of several steamers with relief<br

KAISER'S SAILORS EAGER TO STRIKE AT BRITISH NAVY

Officers and Men at Kiel Want to Test Strength with Rivals in Battle.

KIEL, Germany, Nov. 29.—A pair of gray submarines lie alongside the dock where the American sonderklasse yachts were moored during their last visit to Kiel. The warships anchored in the harbor wear paint and have their torpedo nets rigged. The skyights in the shipyard buildings have been blackened to prevent lights from within being seen by hostile aviators, and machine guns have been posted on the roofs of the higher buildings. Fortifications and barbed-wire entanglements are seen in the outskirts.

These precautions have been taken against any possible attack on the Kiel canal by air or land. Otherwise the Kiel of these days of warfare appears little different from the Kiel of ordinary times. In the harbor steamers and tugs with long tows go about their customary work, and in town the people seem to be pursuing their ordinary course of life.

Show Visitors Whole Works.

A correspondent was shown through every department of the government torpedo factory, into which in ordinary times those not connected with the service were never admitted. He was taken into the newest submarine, above the biggest battleship to watch battle practice with heavy guns and torpedoes, and through the docks where torpedo boats and submarines are being refitted or are undergoing their customary cleaning.

The visit convinced the correspondent of the truth of an earlier impression: That war for the German navy differs from peace only in the existence of an actual instead of a prospective enemy.

Eager to Fight British.

The men and officers of the fleet are chafing for a chance to meet the British navy, and find it hard work to remain patient, but take into consideration the strategic group which governs the policy of the German fleet. They express little bitterness toward the British, but rather a desire to match strength with a worthy opponent whom they always have admired.

A large number of submarines are approaching completion and in an advanced stage of construction. They have been put into commission since the outbreak of the war. All of these are of the largest seagoing type. Germany's mosquito fleet of torpedo boat destroyers has been strengthened since the outbreak of the war in boats having a speed of thirty-six knots.

The torpedo works have been almost doubled in capacity since the beginning of the war and they are now turning out more torpedoes than are used so that the large war reserve is increasing.

German Official Press Bureau Says Government Has Been Overthrown.

BERLIN, Nov. 29.—It was announced today by the official press bureau that word has been received from Sofia, Bulgaria, that the Servian cabinet of Premier N. Pachitch had been overthrown. The concrete foundation has been de-

One hundred and fifty children of the Davis Square Field house, Forty-fifth and South Paulina streets, held a harvest festival in the Field house auditorium yesterday afternoon. Harvest time songs and dances, including one of the old fashioned barn dances, were given. The children were attractively costumed. One of the features of the entertainment was an American husking bee by the T. M. T. M. Social club. About a thousand visitors witnessed the "show." The performance was under the direction of Miss Rosalie Kutz, women's instructor, and I. Newton Richer, director of Davis Square Field house.

GERMAN GUN FOUNDATION FOUND ON ISLE OFF QUEBEC.

Search Being Made for Arms Believed to Have Been Hidden by Teutons on Oranians.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 29.—A secret store of arms and ammunition is being searched for on the Isle of Orleans in the St. Lawrence river, just off Quebec. A concrete base upon which a siege gun could be mounted already has been found, and a tract of land on the island and established there a plant for the manufacture of concrete blocks. It is upon this property that the concrete foundation has been found. It commands the defences of Quebec and of the St. Lawrence channel. The concrete foundation has been destroyed and excavations have been made in a search of buried guns. So far none has been found. At its nearest point the island is four miles from Quebec. As far as the Canadian military authorities have been able to learn, the firms made last summer were never shown.

A. A. L. two years ago, bought a tract of land on the island and established there a plant for the manufacture of concrete blocks. It is upon this property that the concrete foundation has been found. It commands the defences of Quebec and of the St. Lawrence channel.

INQUIRY ON NAVY PAVES WAY FOR DEFENSE BOARD

Navy League Demands Democrats Keep Promise to Establish Council.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT
Washington, D. C., Nov. 29.—[Special]
—The Navy League has called for an inquiry into his administration of the navy department by the house naval affairs committee has opened the way for the passage of a measure creating a council of national defense.

The Navy league of the United States tonight issued a challenge to the Democratic majority in congress to carry out that plank in its Baltimore platform which promised the creation of such a council.

Representative Hobson of Alabama, a member of the house naval affairs committee, has a bill pending which at various times has been favorably considered by the committee and on one occasion by the house.

Hobson Will Demand Action.
Mr. Hobson has served notice that he will insist on the consideration of this measure at the approaching session. If the committee approves it, he will seek a rule making it privileged business. Likewise he will attempt to get favorable consideration in the senate.

President Wilson has been so stung by the criticism of the administration's extreme pacific policy that he will confer with Representative Gardner of Massachusetts this week on the latter's resolution calling for the appointment of a commission to investigate the state of national defense.

Mr. Gardner promises to push his resolution vigorously whether the president approves it or not. If he can persuade President Wilson that now is the time for the creation of such a commission he believes the house will consider the proposition favorably.

Gardner Urges Preparedness.
Ferry Belmont of New York, who was a member of the committee which framed the national defense plank in the Democratic platform at Baltimore, tonight said:

"The most obvious lesson of conditions in Europe is that it is dangerous to any country for its government to indulge in the spirit of prophecy and to act on the theory that the terrors of war must result in the abolishment of all wars."

England, for instance, probably on account of its geographical position, did not prepare for a continental war. Had the government of England heeded the warnings of Field Marshal Roberts and other military experts, there undoubtedly would have been a great saving of English lives.

It is fortunate that the Democratic party at Baltimore declared in favor of a council of national defense, thereby committing itself to the consideration of a subject now demanding attention. Nor can it be assumed that the obligation then entered into is to be regarded as a mere scrap of paper."

WOMAN JOB BOARD TO MEET.
Will Decide Future Work for Emergency Employment Center.

The committee of the emergency employment center of the Chicago Woman's club will meet at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the Fine Arts building. Reports and plans will be heard for future work, according to Miss Katherine A. Jones, one of the committee.

LARGER ARMY CRUSADE BEGINS

Uncle Sam Safety and De-

Move in Chicago.

PRAISE TRIBUNE VIEW

Pledge to Work for Self-Defense.

To Uncle Sam's Safety League,
Parlor B, Fort Dearborn Hotel:
I believe in the holiness and importance of national self-defense and pledge myself to do all in my power to accomplish immediate and ample readiness thereto.

Copies of the foregoing pledge are being sent to as many persons as possible in the United States by Col. Henry L.
Turner of Chicago. Col. Turner, a Spanish-American war veteran, has made a study of the United States military and naval conditions, and believes that radical improvements in the protective forces should be made as soon as possible.

Doesn't Ask Ponderous Army.
Peace, Col. Turner believes, can best be preserved in the case of the United States by being prepared for war. It is not the idea of Col. Turner and the organization which he represents to raise a ponderous standing army, but to have a standing army well trained and equipped,
backed up in case of war with an enormous citizen army.

"I want to praise the stand of The Tribune in urging the United States to be prepared," Col. Turner said last night.
"A year ago the people of the United States believed we could get along with our army. Now the work of the Germans and the powerful guns which we have nothing to compare with, has caused a change in sentiment."

Purpose of the League.

"It is the purpose of the Uncle Sam
Safety and Defense League to crystallize
the sentiment of the majority of the American people into action in congress so our army will be put on a basis where it can cope with any of the armies of Europe."

"It is not to encourage war but to promote peace that we need to be prepared for war. I don't believe the United States could put 15,000 men into the field fully equipped with modern weapons if we were suddenly plunged into war. In some ways our equipment is quite modern, but that is not altogether it is anticipated."

A convention to formulate legislation and outline a vigorous campaign will be held at the Fort Dearborn hotel on Dec.
29, 30, and 31.

7 HURT WHEN AUTOS MEET.

Three Women Among Those Injured in Collision of Gas and Electric Cars.

Seven persons were cut and bruised
yesterday when two automobiles collided at Sheridan road and Lawrence street. The injured woman was thrown without assistance. One car was owned and driven by R. F. Englehardt of 3327
North Paulina street and the other, an electric, by Mrs. C. Bartholomew of 722 Hinman avenue, Evanston.

In the Englehardt car were George Smith of 3715 North Paulina street and the Misses Jennie and Minnie Schaeffer of 2556 West North avenue.

With Mrs. Bartholomew were F. B.
Thompson of 4812 Sheridan road and Lee
Thompson of 4745 Sheridan road.

The Tobey Gift Shop

FOR the Christmas season the space allotted to this department has been greatly enlarged. A number of original and exclusive lines have been added to the display and the regular stock enriched by many new designs.

Especially interesting is a collection of small articles from Japan, China and India, selected for us in those countries by our agent. Many of the pieces are unusual and some very rare.
We shall be pleased to have visitors inspect this importation, whether they intend to purchase or not.

We find our prices are very low, by careful comparison on such articles as are being shown elsewhere. The range is from $1 to $150, but the greater part of the assortment is priced between $1 and $8. The exhibition includes:

Japanese carved and lacquered (red and black) boxes
and bowls of many sizes.

Engraved and hammered Benares brass cups, vases,
bowls, jars, trays, cobra candlesticks, etc., from India.

Burmese carved teakwood chairs, tables, etc.

Old brass incense burners, teapots, bowls, etc., from India.

Carved sandalwood boxes of several sizes—Japanese.
A number of choice pieces of Satsuma ware and some beautiful Cloisonne.

Old marble, brass, stone, lacquered and wood Buddhas
from Burma—some of them centuries old.

The following will suggest the scope of our customary lines.
The variety of styles, patterns, etc., is wide, with most of the things at prices between $1 and $20:

Mirrors, Mantel Clocks, Trays;
Candlesticks, Book Blocks, Lamps,
Lamp Shades, Picture Frames,
Salvers, Door Porters, Tea Tables,
Tea Bells, Chamber Door Tappers,
Liquor Sets, Jugs, Flower Pots,
Humidors, Mahogany Curates,
Lazy Susans, Tea Tables.

Attention is directed to the fact that December is one of the best months to buy standard furniture, as our assortments are complete and varied and the prices lower than usual.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 29.—President Wilson has a busy week ahead of him in preparation for the convening of congress.

Besides completing his annual message to congress, he will discuss the European situation with two American diplomats just back from the war zone, consider various pressing domestic problems and receive a number of important callers.

In completing the message it is understood the president will consider the advisability of recommending that congress amend the Sherman anti-trust law in order to allow American exporters to cooperate in an effort to meet organized foreign competition.

Mr. Weigle has written a seventy page book entitled, "My Experiences on Belgian Battlefields," illustrated with twenty war pictures. Copies of the book are on sale at the Studebaker theater at 25 cents each.

FATHER'S DEATH LEAVES FAMILY IN DIRE STRAITS

Mother with Seven Children Makes Heroic Struggle to Keep Going.

Here's a chance for Good Fellow work. Eighteen years ago Mr. P. and his wife, then a bride, came to America.

John P. worked hard and established a home that had most of the comforts and a few of the luxuries. He didn't get very far ahead of his class, however, and never was much more than just a little better than poor.

Children arriving rapidly kept the demands upon the family income growing just a little faster than the income. Still they were happy. They lived over on the northwest side and among modest neighbors enjoyed the little they had.

Last August the husband died, quite without any preparation for the future care of his wife and seven children.

Funeral Taken Savings.

The funeral took the little savings and the insurance of $300 was swiftly exhausted in a few weeks after the death of the bread winner.

There were no relatives to aid and the fact that the husband died before taking out his second papers for citizenship left the widow handicapped in seeking help from the state. In these difficult circumstances the United Charities found the family. There was hardly food for a single meal in the house, pitifully bare, but remarkably clean, when a charities visitor called.

But the children, dressed to make the best appearance possible, were being kept in school. Outside help only can save the family.

Mother Studies for Citizenship.

The mother is making her best efforts studying for a citizenship examination to take out second papers, which may be issued to her in view of her husband's first papers.

Mrs. F. has always been well and strong, but is now showing the signs of overwork. The oldest child, a girl of 13 years, is attending school and is under the care of the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium. Another girl of 3 years was recently admitted to the sanitarium and can neither talk nor walk. The little girl of 10 and the boy of 4 are well and normal.

A nursing baby of 11 months completes the list. The mother is forced to be away from home much of the time earning a living for the family and the older children, called upon to care for the babies, are not in school regularly.

The United Charities has arranged to get the children back into school. To allow the mother to remain at home, some Good Fellow must pay the rent of $10 a month and give $2 a week to supplement county supplies.

His Needs Are Many and They're Urgent.

FEMININE VOTE ELECTS PAULLIN

Official Count Shows Women Put G. O. P. Drainage Trustee Back.

GIVE HIM 52,159 VOTES.

Women voters of Cook county elected George W. Paullin to the sanitary drainage district board. If it had not been for the votes of women, Paullin would have been replaced by Clohessy, a Democratic candidate. The official totals by wards for the sanitary trustees was completed yesterday.

An addition of these totals gave the following results:

	Men's	Women's	Total
Carter, D.	44,003	44,982	182,981
Clohessy, E.	129,009	127,977	256,986
Clark, R.	52,388	58,148	160,536
Paullin, R.	126,113	52,160	178,273
Lyon, J.	52,000	52,000	104,000
McNally, D.	125,677	60,480	186,157

Women Put Him Back.

On the vote of the men, Clohessy received a larger vote than Wallace G. Clark, the Republican. If the women had not voted Clark would have been returned and Paullin would have been crowded out by the Democratic candidate.

Trustee Clark received the highest women's vote, garnering 53,148, while his Republican team mate with whom Clark has fought against Democratic extractions in the control of the sanitary district was a close second with the women.

Little Also Popular.

The vote of the women in the choice of sanitary trustees was for Republican candidate. Hon. Little, the third Republican candidate for the sanitary district, trustee, although beaten by Clohessy, Patrick Carr in the total vote, received 6,000 more women's vote than Carr, who was the most popular Democratic candidate.

The women of the county have taken a keen interest in the actions of the drainage board officials during the last year. Special committees representing women's organizations have attended most of the meetings and reported back to their organizations. The women's vote shows a disapproval of the methods of the Democratic candidates.

Another Deserving Case.

In central district the case of the F. family is calculated to appeal to the generosity of Good Fellows. The F. family consists of a mother and five children, whose name, an unusual surname, is now in the bridegroom for a year.

Mrs. F. has always been well and strong, but is now showing the signs of overwork.

The oldest child, a girl of 13 years, is attending school and is under the care of the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium. Another girl of 3 years was recently admitted to the sanitarium and can neither talk nor walk.

The little girl of 10 and the boy of 4 are well and normal.

The United Charities has arranged to get the children back into school. To allow the mother to remain at home, some Good Fellow must pay the rent of $10 a month and give $2 a week to supplement county supplies.

SALES MAN AND WOMAN COMPANION ARRESTED ON COMPLAINT OF ALEXANDRIA'S MANAGER.

Eugene Mayer, a salesman, and a woman giving the name of Mary Smith, were arrested early yesterday on complaint of Robert Bolland, manager of the Alexandria hotel, 542 Rush street, who charges them with attempting to defraud him of their room and board bill. They had been living at the hotel together since Nov. 14, it is said, and owed a bill of $60.

Playing Hide and Seek in the Fighting Game.

AN IMPROVISED LOG BARRICADE Another outpost of the Belgian army in Flanders. They have done a little log-rolling of their own, and constructed a protecting barricade, from the cover of which they shoot whenever they have a favorable opportunity. [Photograph by American Press association.]

A "FIGHTING TOP" ON LAND—A Belgian marksman is here shown firing from the vantage point of an elevation formed by the curious growth of a Pollard willow tree. There is a striking similarity between this tree and the fighting tops on a man-o'-war's masts. The soldier standing beside the tree is covering a gap in the thick foliage, which affords him complete protection from the enemy. [Photograph by American Press association.]

BELGIAN SHARPSHOOTERS PROTECTED BY ROOF OF FARM-HOUSE—This outpost of a part of King Albert's army has established itself in a niche in a farmhouse roof, ready to take pot shots at the enemy the moment he appears. [Photograph by American Press association.]

OBSERVATION POST STATIONED AT TREE TOP—This curious elevated stand has been constructed by the Belgian forces at the top of a tree conveniently situated for watching the enemy's movements. The picture was taken in the vicinity of Dixmude. [Photograph copyright: 1914. By New York Times company.]

A GERMAN STRATAGEM TO DECEIVE AIR SCOUTS—This dummy gun consists of an empty barrel rigged up on a discarded handcart. It is designed to represent one of the huge 42 cm. mortars which the Germans have used with such devastating effect, thus misleading the Allies' air scouts and causing them to give futile direction to their gunners.

DISGUISED BRITISH FIELD GUN—The distance separating opposing forces in the present war is so great that the enemy's guns rarely can be seen by the hostile gunners. But they are not so exempt from overhead observation. To avoid detection from this vantage point various methods of disguising the guns have been employed. The gun here pictured is strewn with wheat. From this front view the disguise does not appear very complete. But when seen from an aeroplane the effect would be that of a small grassy mound. [Photograph copyright: 1914. By New York Times company.]

LIGHT CANNON "PLANTED" AMID THICK FOLIAGE—The gun here illustrated is screened from both land and air observation. In contrast to the artificial disguise shown in another picture, the fighters operating this gun have concealed themselves and their "toy" behind a natural screen of thickly-grown shrubs. SIXTY ALDERMEN FOR IMMEDIATE POLICE INCREASE

Merriam Only Persistent Ob-jector; Geiger Starts Fight for More Men.

With sixty out of sixty-eight aldermen favorable to an immediate increase in the number of patrolmen walking beat in Chicago and with only one alderman in militant opposition to the movement, Chief of Police James Gleason foresees a rosy prospect for a bigger police force at tonight's meeting of the city council.

Ald. Ellis Geiger, who has been convinced by the catalogue of current crime in the police "squeal book" that Chief Gleason actually needs 1,500 additional patrolmen to stop holdups and murders, will introduce in the council an emergency appropriation ordinance designed to put every eligible candidate for the police force in uniform immediately—some of them by tomorrow night if possible.

Calls for $40,000.

This ordinance is expected to call for an appropriation of between $35,000 and $40,000 for the purpose of paying the salaries of the men one month. Attached to it, in all probability, will be an order directing the finance committee to make provision for the full number of new policemen needed in its budget for 1915. It is probable, too, some action will be asked for to mitigate the more academic features of police civil service examinations, in order that good, brawny thief catchers who may be a bit shy in arithmetic or history may not be barred.

To rush the work of getting rid of the criminals of the city, Chief Gleason has pledged himself to dig all policemen out of special assignment jobs from which they can be spared without jeopardizing the efficiency of the department. One of the conditions which many aldermen have attached to their support of the emergency measure is that all "soft snaps" be eliminated and that all the new men who may be added to the force be started patrolling the streets at night.

Will Put Issue Up to Council.

Ald. Geiger has taken the position that the city council must decide tonight whether it desires to stand responsible for the continuance of holdups, burglaries, and murders throughout the city after nightfall. He will tell his fellow aldermen that the city faces a reign of terror from criminals such as never before existed in its history.

An anticipated motion from Ald. Charles E. Merriam—the single direct opponent of an increase in the police force to refer the ordinance to the finance committee will be met by the answer that to invoke red tape in a crisis like the present would be about as sensible as for firemen to sit on a carbuncle comparing data during conflagration.

"It is now or never," said Ald. Geiger, in sketching his plans for tonight's meeting. "I have asked Corporation Counsel John W. Beckwith to prepare the emergency appropriation ordinance in legal form so that it will be in shape for immediate passage and be put into effect immediately."

Sees Responsibility.

"If by any chance this emergency appropriation should fail for some inappropriability for the future murders and slayings of Chicagoans in the streets at night will rest upon the heads of those aldermen who vote against it. I do not want such responsibility to be held up to me in the future, and I believe that most of my fellow councilmen feel as I do. This is no time to prolong discussion while our neighbors are being robbed and murdered.

The appropriation ordinance will be drawn before the council meeting. The exact amount of the salaries for the men now available on the eligible list will be specified. It is my hope to get as near 600 men at work as possible under the new system, and I am counting upon the civil service commission to supply the men.

I am assured a new examination can be held quickly. By the time the finance committee can take care of the permanent addition to the force in the budget a full list of eligibles will be on hand. But what I shall most concern myself with will be an effort to get the police force increased before the councilmen leave the city hall tomorrow night.

Gleason to Show "Squeal Book."

Chief Gleason spent most of the day investigating the most recent murders. He promises to have the "squeal book" on hand at the council meeting for the benefit of the public.

"I am glad to see the aldermen alive to the situation," said Chief Gleason. "I have received a communication from Ald. Geiger and will give him all the information he requires to present to the council."

The councilmen, too, can help me get rid of many special assignments hampering the department. If I can get the 1,500 new men and get rid of this special assignment business, we can make a clean sweep of crime and have just as good a record as any other city. But I have got to have the men to do it."

Merriman's Views of Case.

Ald. Merriman, the persistent objector to the measure, said he would ask to have it referred to the finance committee.

"The crime report is coming out about Jan. 1, and there will be plenty of time for the finance committee to consider it before the final passing of the budget," said Ald. Merriman. "This business belongs before the finance committee, and should not be rushed through the council. I do not believe that more men are needed, if the politics, graft, corruption, and apparent protecting of notorious haunts of criminals are done away with. Feeling as I do, I must oppose Ald. Geiger's proposed measure."

The second suspension of the rules for the passage of Ald. Geiger's ordinance will require two-thirds of the 68 aldermen present. After suspension of the rules thirty-six votes in favor of the ordinance will be necessary for its passage.

STABBED IN MAXWELL ST.
Mystery Surrounds Wounding of Ignatz Yarnot in Maxwell Street.

Mystery surrounds the probably fatal stabbing of Ignatz Yarnot at 1609 Maxwell street early yesterday at 1609 Maxwell and Yarnot streets. He was taken to the county hospital.

There was little work for the two armed squads of deputies who patrolled the street and went into it in the evening in automobiles. The automobile bandit did not make their appearance. The sudden decrease in the number of saloon robbers

ONE MAN SHOT IN RUNNING FIGHT WITH ROBBERS

Policeman Surprises 5 Armed Men Starting to Rob

Two Dancers.

Highwaymen and burglars are still on the rampage, but yesterday the police appeared more active than usual. Several arrests resulted. One victim of a holdup was shot by one of five highwaymen during a revolver fight with a patrolman on the west side. Three suspects are being held.

Keeler and Nichols of 2816 South Honore street and Louis Krueger of 1616 Winchester avenue had been attending a dance in Haderhars' hall at Harrison and Green streets Saturday night. They had just left the hall when five men with revolvers stepped up to them and ordered them to hold up their hands. Their arms were upstretched and one of the robbers was about to search them when Policeman Frank Freemuth, detailed at the dance hall, reached the sidewalk.

Revolver Duel in Street.

Freemuth drew his revolver, and the highwaymen fled north in Green street, pursued by the policeman and the two victims. Freemuth emptied his revolver at the fugitives, who returned more than a dozen shots, one of which struck Geiger in the leg. He was taken to the county hospital.

Later the Desplaines street police picked up three Italians found carrying revolvers who admitted they had attended the dance. They were taken to the hospital and are said to have been identified by Geiger as three of the highwaymen. The police refused to give their names.

Identify Two as Robbers.

Two of three men held at the Fillmore street and Warren avenue police stations were identified by two victims of recent robberies. The men, the police assert, are members of a gang of seven men which has terrorized saloonkeepers in the last two weeks. The men held are Harry Wolf, 1456 Washburn avenue; his brother, Edward Wolf, and William Dilon.

There was little work for the two armed squads of deputies who patrolled the street and went into it in the evening in automobiles. The automobile bandit did not make their appearance. The sudden decrease in the number of saloon robbers series by the bandits is attributed to the activity of the squads.

Fire Rifle Police.
One of the police automobile rifle squads was called to the saloon of Kasper Karpinsky at 4254 Archer avenue when a report was received that highwaymen had tried to hold up the place. The men had fled before the police arrived, however. They obtained nothing. Motorcycle Policemen George Haas and Rudolph Skala of the West park force ordered four men speeding in an automobile at the Division street entrance to Humboldt park to stop early in the day. Instead the driver increased the speed of the car. The policemen fired several shots at the machine and then, leaping on their motorcycles, gave chase.

The chase led out Grand avenue and up Honan avenue, where the driver of the car turned into an alley near Iowa street. The automobile was going at such a high rate of speed that the chauffeur lost control and it crashed through a fence in the rear of 734 Christiana avenue. The occupants escaped before the policemen arrived.

Four men were arrested while driving a car, and two were wagons at Graceland and Halsted streets, confessed they had broken into the notion store of Morris Friedman at 3300 North Clark street on Thursday morning and had stolen $500 worth of goods. They are Barney O'Brien, 17, of 1540 Clybourn avenue; Frank Moretti, 17, of 1130 Orleans street; Carl Martirrie, 17, of 564 Orleans street; John Grovenco, 19, of 1210 Brewster street, and Phillip Bondie, 18, of 720 Vedder street.

The New Peerless The Only "All-Purpose" Six Has Arrived—$2,250

Peerless "All-Purpose" Six $2,250. Wheel-base 121 inches, Weight 3,000 pounds

Here is a light, six-cylinder car, only 8 inches longer than the new Peerless "All-Purpose" Four and only 150 pounds greater in weight.

Here is a "Six" for the man who has always had the best in motor cars, who pays from $4,000 to $7,000 for his heavy type car and now desires the advantages of the light, European wheel-base type, but who has fixed standards for appointments and service.

Built to Satisfy the Owners of $5,000 Cars

Here are the $5,000 features of this $2,250 Six—A $5,000 Body, of the same ash and sheet aluminum used in the Peerless "48-Six" at $5,000. You get it in no other light, moderate priced car, and it is the only material that will yield entirely satisfactory style and durability.

$5,000 Car Finish! The same careful painting as applied to the "48-Six." $5,000 Car Upholstery! The same materials—used in same profusion as in the "48-Six."

$5,000 Platform Three Point Spring Suspension! Exactly similar in design, material and workmanship to the "48-Six." Silico-manganese steel made to a special Peerless formula. No cheap metal or castings used.

Peerless "All-Purpose" Six $2,250.

1915 Model "48-Six" $5,000.

LOOP STRANGLE CASE YIELDS NO CLEW TO POLICE

Finger Print Expert Locks Up Emsheimer Plant; Detectives Halted.

A desk near the front of the office, from which he is enabled to look through a window and see any one entering or leaving the door leading up to Mr. Emsheimer's office on the second floor. His foreman, Adolf Berg, went up to the third floor on Saturday afternoon to help a man named Johnson, foreman for William Pickett Sons & Co., with some work. They got through at 4 o'clock.

Hall Light Probably Out.
There is a light on each landing of the building and there was an agreement between Mr. Emsheimer and the other tenants that as long as there was a light burning, no one should lock the front door. Johnson came downstairs about 4 o'clock, apparently found no light burning on the second floor landing outside of Mr. Emsheimer's office and locked the street door. Mr. Baggot remembered the incident because Johnson waved his hand to him through the window as he left. Berg came down the rear way and left through the office on the first floor.

"Half an hour later I remember I looked at the hall light and saw it was off, and a woman went to the door and tried to get in," said Mr. Baggot. "They wanted to come in my place of business and had made a mistake. I directed them to the other door."

Woman None Enter.
"I did not leave until about 5 o'clock and did not see any one enter. I usually notice those who enter and leave because of the position of my desk."

"We are the lessees of the building. I saw Mr. Emsheimer last on Tuesday," said Mr. Baggot.

"He was in his office and seemed to be in a happy frame of mind. He was in his office on the dot. He came into our place as soon on the first day of each month and handed the money to the cashier. He always struck me as a man who was making money out of his business."

Women Relatives Secluded.

Deputies Trant, O'Keefe, and Cahill, who went out to the Emsheimer residence at 312 East Fifty-fifth street Saturday night, found the house in such condition that it was impossible to talk to any of the women members of the family and that but little information could be obtained from other relatives.

Moran told First Deputy Schuetzler and Capt. O'Brien that the window in the rear had been opened several days ago on account of a small fire in the place. It had been raised to let the fumes and smoke out, he said.

Capt. Evans 13 Hours Late.

Capt. Evans reached the scene of the shooting thirteen hours after the police had been summoned of the crime. He picked up the papers on the floor, the broken silver rimmed eyeglasses, removed the collar from the body and the stick with which the rope had been twisted. He opened the safe door and looked inside. Then he closed the door of the safe and left orders that nothing in the office was to be disturbed until this morning.

An hour later the captain's son and assistant, Emmett A. Evans, visited the office and made a search for finger prints on the safe and on pieces of furniture about the room. He untied the rope from the neck and found that it was about two yards long and had been doubled twice and twisted, making four strands which encircled the neck. It appeared to have been used before.

Mum on What He Found.

Capt. Evans refused to say what he had learned. He said he had found nothing of importance so far, and would not know just what clews might be obtained from the articles in his possession until today.

"These things all have to be treated with acids and chemicals," he said. "We Emsheimer's desk had been lit within

Herman Schuetzler and Capt. O'Brien. He told his story in a straightforward manner and appeared to be anxious to aid the police in every possible way. The police were unable to find Miss Hughes at her home at 3301 South Wabash avenue. Her mother said she had gone to visit a friend and probably would not return this evening.

Nellie Hughes Visits Invalid.
Nellie Hughes was not at home last evening when reporters called. Her younger sister, Catherine, told a weird story of her sister having gone out to see a friend who was ill in Edgewater.

"Nell worked for Mr. Emsheimer until three weeks ago, when she had trouble with a girl named Lizzie Vettors," said Mr. Emsheimer. "I worked there, too. She's gone out to see Annie Sullivan, who is dying."

"Who is Annie Sullivan?" she was asked.

"Annie was forewoman at the factory until several months ago."

"Why did Annie quit?"

"She was sick."

"Why did your sister quit?"

"Well, they wanted to lay me off, and Lillian Mulcahy, too, and keep Lizzie Vettors. You see, business was sort of slack. It had been slack a great deal of late."

Worked Part Time.

"There were about seven or eight girls working," Catherine continued, "and then I became forewoman."

they had a system of laying a girl off two weeks without pay and letting her work one week. By working the system in relays this way all the girls were working part of the time. Lizzie Vettors was off two weeks and failed to report on time. She was two or three days late. Nell had been working at home and didn't need it so much. Mr. Emsheimer wanted Lizzie to come back and to lay me and Lillian off instead. Nell objected. She didn't care so much about me and neither did I, but she hated to see Lillian laid off. She told the Vettors girl she had to stay off another two weeks and wait her turn again. Mr. Emsheimer wanted her put back at work. Nell said she quit if Lillian was laid off. Mr. Emsheimer insisted and they had some words and Nell quit."

Sister Returns Home.

Nell Hughes came home later in the evening and repeated the story her sister had told.

"I worked for Mr. Emsheimer for eleven years," she said. "They have a branch office in New York, but Mr. Emsheimer always has been in charge of the Chicago end of the business. The girls have been earning from $6 to $8 a week. When business is good they earn from $10 to $15. Annie Sullivan is dying of tuberculosis. That's why she had to quit and then I became forewoman."

Julius Ascher could not be reached last night.

Booked on Larceny Charge.
John J. Enright of 628 West Sixty-third street was booked at the Fifteenth street station last night on a charge of larceny.

Miss Hughes refused to say where Miss Sullivan lived.

Thought Little of Pleasure.
Charles A. Ogden of 4600 Ellis avenue, a commercial artist, said he had made drawings of hat frames for Mr. Emsheimer for the last three years.

"Mr. Emsheimer was a man who thought little of pleasure," said Mr. Ogden. "He was a crackajack business man and a thorough one. He knew what he wanted and he saw that he got it. He was a good man, a good citizen. He was always in a happy frame of mind and seemed to be physically perfect. I don't see how anyone could have overpowered him with a desperate struggle. His assailant must have struck him from behind."

After an examination of Emsheimer's body Dr. Henry G. W. Reinhardt, coroner's physician, expressed the view last night that death was caused by strangulation. He found a bruised area on the back of the head about twice the size of a silver dollar.

"This may have been caused by a blow on the head or by falling on the floor," said Dr. Reinhardt. "It looks as if death resulted from strangulation, although this blow may have been a contributing cause."

During the afternoon Dr. Reinhardt removed the vital organs. He will be engaged during the week in examining these. A superficial inspection disclosed no trace of poison.

His Character Unassassable.

Intimate friends of Emsheimer's asserted his character was such as to preclude any motive for suicide, or murder motive other than robbery. For nearly fifteen years Emsheimer had eaten lunch almost daily at the Tip-Top Inn in the Pullman building with Theodore Ascher, head of the millinery firm bearing that name at 300 South Michigan avenue.

"We are great friends," said Mr. Ascher. "I and I have been horrified at his death. Although we met daily, he never discussed his private affairs with me. He was a close mouthed man. I know nothing of his business except that it was not as good as it had been because of the general business conditions of the past year."

Did Not Believe in Suicide.

"I have no trouble with any of his employees that I know of. He was quite respectable and straightforward, and I am positive that he would not have thought of taking his own life. He spoke often of his family and was much attached to his home life. He considered suicide dishonorable. The last time I saw him was last Tuesday because I was out of the city."

Mr. Ascher's brother, Julius Ascher of 604 South Michigan avenue, and Leo Buxbaum, a commission merchant of 4500 Indiana avenue, had been in the habit of playing cards and having picnics once or twice a week for years. For the last two years they met at Buxbaum's house.

"We played at my house on the afternoon of Thanksgiving day," said Mr. Buxbaum, "and made an appointment to meet again on Saturday afternoon. Mr. Emsheimer said he was going to take an early train to the stock and would not arrive until late. He did not come, nor did he telephone. We supposed he was unable to come, because he usually let us know when he could not keep his appointment. At 7 o'clock his son-in-law, Mr. Sacha, called up and asked if he had not been over to play picnics.

"I was an intimate friend of his and always considered him a perfect gentleman and very much attached to his family. He really did not have committed suicide. And as far as I can see, do not believe there could have been any motive on the part of any one to kill him. Of his business affairs he never talked."

CRIBE FOR THE TRIBUNE

For Christmas—a box of writing paper either plain or engraved with monogram or address—

at McClurg's

The distinction of "McClurg" engraving added to the beauty of their correspondence papers makes a gift that is both very pleasing and useful.

Of uncommon novelty and beauty are the Fabriano hand made papers (exclusive in Chicago with us). These Italian papers have certain marks of individuality that can be produced nowhere else in the world. This is especially true of the curious rough surface, deckled edge and rarely artistic tints. The envelopes with colored linings made to harmonize with the tint of the paper are especially pleasing.

Other representative items of our unequalled assortment are the beautiful French papers in novel as well as conventional designs, and the fine domestic linen papers in many artistic finishes, tints and weaves.

For nearly 60 years the "McClurg" imprint on engraved stationery has been accepted by social Chicago as "the standard" in all respects. The work is executed in our own shop by some of the most skilled engravers in this country.

Music and the Theater

Women and Song
at the Illinois.

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

THE Folies recurred last evening at the Illinois, very gay and vivacious. A brilliant hippodrome of song and shapes, heralded with the boisterous clowning indigenous to the institution.

There was the usual convocation of Loop passers ogling discreetly the numerous daughters of Herodotus assembled by Mr. Ziegfeld for their delectation; and Miss Billie Burke, too, was present in person with her new in-laws, gleefully pleased with the proceedings.

Joy was also manifested by some hundreds of thousands of this corporeal column. The parades, the dances, the music, the tableaux, and the coming up were all approved with the true gusto of the middle west—the may New Yorkers, I should say, being the loudest and happiest in their acclaim.

A doubtful drop curtain picturing Broadway at Forty-second street is enough to make these cosmopolites glad, and as Mr. Ziegfeld, like the magazines, knows the provincial mind in this respect, the play reeked with scenic references to Manhattan. It may not be said that the bullet of the current Folies outstrips all others. It was an unusual, handsome, tolerant of its exile, displaying patrician virtue, the magnificence, a hand of indulgent philanthropists, a stellar good fellow work in the theatrical school. Not much happened to abolish the humor to incandescence the year; yet the entertainment did not come under the classification of prim. They ought, however, to cut out the ugly and disagreeable things sung by Mr. Arthur Deagon in the first act.

The show began easily in hell, with Miss Vera Michelena, in black tights, as a devil and curvilinear Satan, but with none of the devil's good tunes. The Folies is the one extravaganza wherein the music is worse than the libretto, though Miss Michelena should be pardoned for pains expended to make her songs at half-harmonious. From hell the path wades vinously to various tango palaces, the Texas frontier (for a patriotic number), several pink and purple landscapes, and many familiar high spots in New York.

En route Mr. Leon Errol frequently crossed the track with exhibitions of his incendiating ruffianism. A certain and skillful but by no means a suave clown, Mr. Errol's diversion amused, aided as he was by Mr. Bert Williams, who, one apprehends, is growing sere from lack of invention.

But he was funny, too, in his expected fashion, and he "fed" Mr. Errol modestly and effectively. They played a burlesque game together with Mr. Williams acting caddy, and made it a genuinely comic travesty. Mr. Errol, though started a dancing school, and, mistaken by his pupils for the instructor, caused them to imitate his haphazard reeling, which also was funny. For some reason or other the renowned scene on top of a skyscraper in course of erection did not quite get over. Perhaps it was because it was reminiscent of another scene in another Folies. Mr. Errol as a daring riever and Mr. Williams as his timid assistant managed it with dexterity, however, and it proved entertaining.

Another episode of the night was the appearance of Mr. Ed. Wynn, in some interlaced foolery, taking the place, perhaps, of a dancing mother and son. Mr. Wynn is a forceful chap of the "H. L. Jolson" type, and his buffoonery was now and suitable to its environment. He worked hard, a bit too hard, and he made every joke an event, laughing vociferously himself at each of them. His efforts occurred while the chorus was changing its clothes, and so successful was he that the time passed quickly. It was the duty of Miss Louise Meyers to officiate thus also—a dour little thing who sang very well and acted similarly. She and Mr. C. Morton Horne, an H. B. Warner sort of a matinee, provided the sentimental interludes, and they did the prettiest music of the evening. You will have to go to the Illinois to hear this music; it won't be played much elsewhere.

There were a dozen other revuers. Mr. Deagon, Miss Stelle Chataigne, Miss Gladys Feldman and Mr. Herbert Clifton among them. Mr. Clifton, in a teethy

Alma Gluck Pleases
Large Audience.

BY RONALD WEBSTER.

WHEN you come upon a person who is able to give pleasure to so many, both of the lady and of the profession, as Alma Gluck gave yesterday in her recital at Orchestra hall, you will, if you be of a curious turn of mind, inquire into the cause of her greatness. The outward facts of the performance yesterday were that the singer had come from Paris to the stage of Orchestra hall, walked down a white cloth pathway to a piano, and faced a large audience. The last fact is the only unusual one. She sang a lot of songs that many persons have been singing for years. She wore a costume, frankly speaking, much like an apron over a black gown, and bowed like a German courtesan.

There were other facts quite as incontestable, that Miss Gluck both has a broad, commanding voice and uses it particularly well, for instance, and the fact is true of others who sing, but who sing habitually to small audiences. Several persons suggested that her association is the cause of her success.

Her performance showed, at any rate, the value of letting an audience understand what the songs are about. "The Bird of the Wilderness," for instance, went much better than "Wien fromme Kinder schlafen geben," though the latter is probably a better song.

Two songs (I think the language was Dutch) of Max Vogrich were not understood at all. They sounded so promising that I felt that I had been cheated out of certain enjoyment. One may be expected to understand German and French and even Italian, but of Dutch and Russian one may, I think, be forgiveably ignorant.

Clear enunciation, careful arrangement of program (every group was concluded with a snap) really go no further toward an explanation of why Miss Gluck's performance was almost unalloyed pleasure, than the statement that her upper register is no longer unsatisfactory, and that her interpretative powers have grown to the point where she can make her hearers enjoy emotions without wallowing indecently in them.

Four ariach songs opened the program. One of them the singer completely revived, "Come, Beloved," from "Atlanta" of Handel.

Handel's idiom is so familiar to everyone, so surrounded by a mass of recollection, that his works are easily brought to life by a singer so competent as Miss Gluck.

The Little Russia Folk songs arranged by her husband, Efrem Zimbalist, might have been more interesting for a few program notes. Two other Russian songs, Rachmaninoff and Glazunov, were strongly contrasted to the more popular French songs of Charpentier, Massenet, and Ravel. "Crepuscule," by Massenet, was repeated.

Miss Gluck added to the group a hyperbolical song about jealousy, which showed, at least, imagination. It would be well to hear Miss Gluck again. She and John McCormick are living arguments that music is, after all, pretty universal art.

Auditorium to Have a Birthday.
The Auditorium theater was opened on Dec. 9, 1899, and consequently will celebrate its twenty-fifth birthday on Wednesday of next week. The first opera presented on the now famous stage of the Auditorium was Gounod's "Roméo et Juliet." and in honor of the silver anniversary the Century opera company will give a special performance of the same opera Wednesday night, Dec. 9.

The cast of "Romeo and Juliet" in 1899 included Adelina Patti, Guerina Fabbri, Mathilde, Ballermeister, Giovanni Perni, Sign. Biscotti, Giuseppe di Puccio, Sign. Luchi, Sign. Cernusco, A. de Vacchetti, Ettore Marzani, Luigi Ravelli, with Romualdo Sapienza, conductor, and William Parker, stage director.

The cast of 1914 to appear in the twenty-fifth anniversary performance of the same opera will include Lola Ewell, Elizabeth Campbell, Augusta Lenska, Alfred Kaufman, Thomas Chalmers, Orville Harrold, Harry Williamson, Henry Weldon, Louis D'Angelo, with Azile Jacchia as conductor and Jacques Cohl as artistic director.

At the opening of the Auditorium twenty-five years ago a number of celebrities were present, including President Benjamin Harrison, Vice President Morton, Gen. R. A. Alger, John Wanamaker, Mayor Creiger, Prof. David Swin, and others. The boxes were filled with members of families prominent in society at that time, and many of these or their descendants will occupy the same boxes at the coming revival of "Romeo and Juliet."

LEADERS WANT
FARM OFFICES OF STATE UNITED

Legislators for Action Following Expose by "The Tribune."

EFFICIENCY IS SOUGHT.

Leaders in both houses of the legislature, irrespective of party, yesterday voiced their enthusiastic endorsement of the plan to consolidate fifteen different offices, boards, and commissions now authorized to spend the state's appropriations for the advancement of agriculture.

The proposal for a centralized, responsible executive department of agriculture will be submitted to the legislature when it meets in January, in the report of the legislative efficiency and economy committee. The waste, inefficiency, disorganization, and political favor which resulted from the present loose administration have been disclosed in the columns of the Tribune.

Without exception the members of the legislature who were asked for their views made the keynote of their remarks the slogan:

"Give the farmer the full benefit of the taxpayers' money that is appropriated for his advancement."

Saving Will Be Considerable.

Edward D. Shurtliff, Republican, former speaker of the house, said from his home in Marengo:

"We ought to get the most good we can out of the money that the state appropriates. I have not made a thorough study of the situation with reference to the agricultural agencies, but I know that if some of the numerous boards and commissions can be eliminated I am most surely in favor of doing so. There will result a saving of considerable size."

"Consolidation is the only sensible plan." Willett H. Cornwell, Republican, added: "The only reason for the existence of the numerous agencies we have at present is that the legislature formed them as they became necessary without any thought of the rapidly increasing number. The result is they work at cross purposes, duplicating their work in many instances."

"The management of the agricultural agencies is such that not one private business house would tolerate it for a minute. There is a whole lot of reform necessary, and there should be no reason why the taxpayers' money ought not to be economically expended, so as to get the most out of it."

Too Many Officials.

"I favor anything that will save the state's money," Senator Samuel A. Etelson, Republican, of the Third district, said: "I and shall do anything I can to accomplish that result. There are too many superfluous boards and officials. Rigid economy ought to be practiced."

"These are hard times for the state as well as for the private business this should be a period of retrenchment. For that reason we ought to consolidate as many of the boards as we can and eliminate the unnecessary officesholders."

Mr. Etelson added that he did not want to cut down on the state's appropriations for agriculture, but believed there ought to be greater efficiency in their expenditure.

David E. Shanahan, Republican, assemblyman from the Ninth district and former chairman of the state appropriations committee, also said:

"There's a lot of good work to be done along that line. I have supported measures of economy and shall continue to do so. A large number of boards may be consolidated. Every year we have a new one, with more expense to the taxpayers. I am absolutely in favor of that part of the efficiency committee's report dealing with the agricultural agencies in so far as I am familiar with it."

State Fair a Joke.

The Tribune's exposures concerning the management of the state fair under the direction of the board of agriculture were made the comment of Michael L. Iglo, Democratic house member from the Fifth district.

"The best joke for a long time has been the state fair," he said. "To get away with the political favoritism and inefficiency of the fair by getting it under responsible management will be one of the best improvements in years."

The farmers do not realize how the funds they are given are frittered away under the present system."

"I think your idea is a good one," John Broderick, Democratic senator from the Twenty-seventh district, remarked. "There is great need of consolidation, and if we want to get results, it looks as if some of the boards ought to be done away with."

Service to Farmers.

John H. Lyle, Republican representative-elect from the Eleventh district, who achieved a reputation in the cleanup of the Englewood vice district, said:

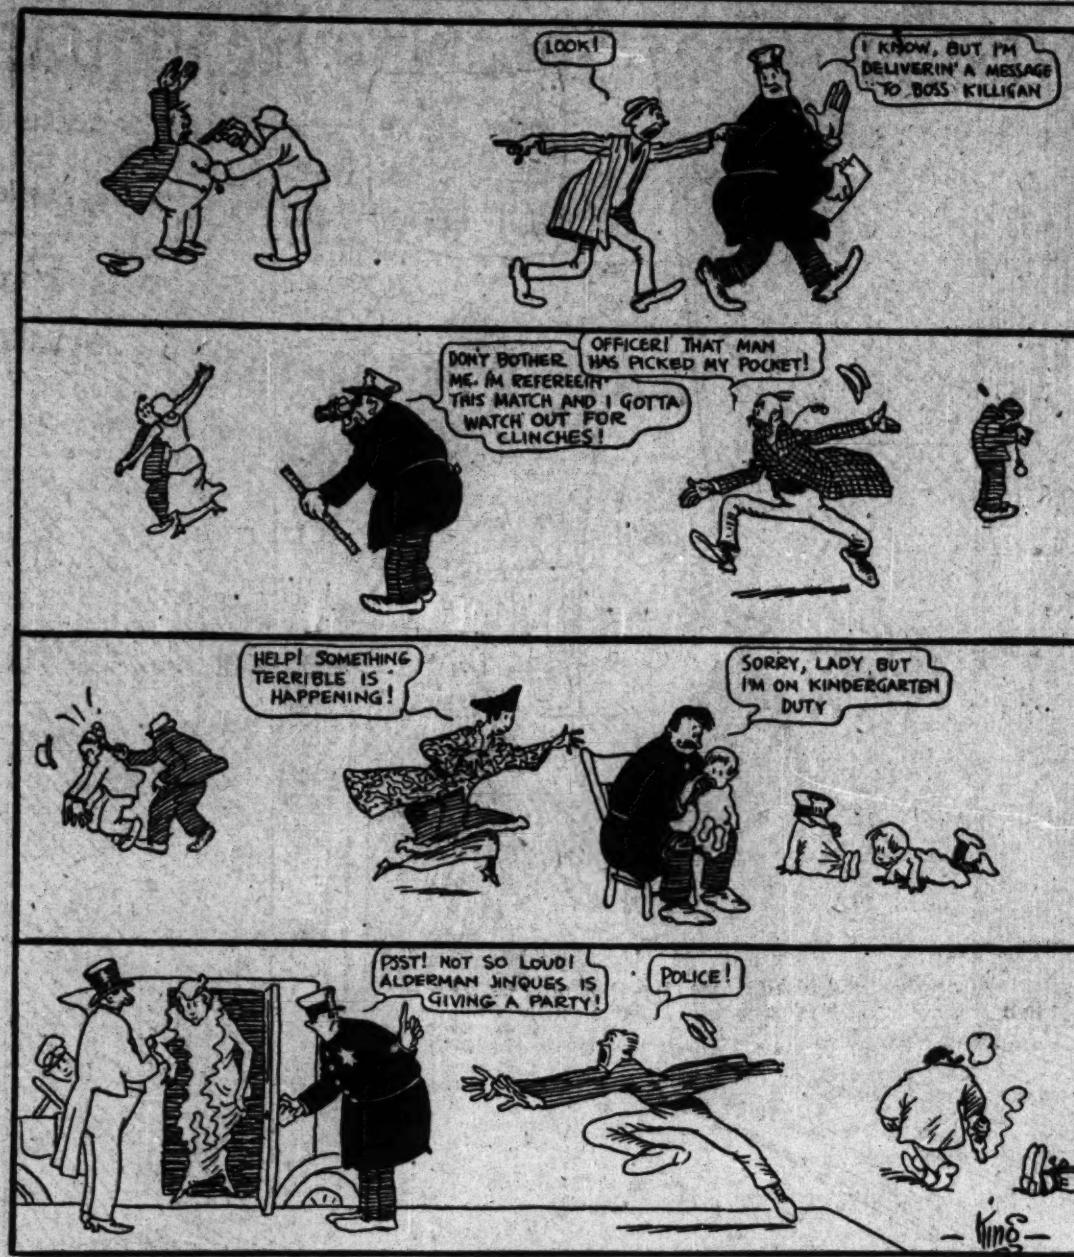

"There can be no question that the lack of centralized control in the executive and the legislative departments has resulted in a situation in which the farmer is not getting all that he ought to get out of the various bodies created for his benefit. Wasteful and inefficient management, as exposed by the Tribune, cannot be too strongly condemned. You are to be congratulated for doing a splendid service to the farmers of the state."

Louis J. Pieron, Republican, representative from the Seventh district, cited with approval the sound example of where inefficiency had resulted from too many boards and commissions.

"With a great number of boards," he said, "you get nothing. With a few men in control you can nail the responsibility."

John A. Swanson, senator from the Thirteenth district, and John H. Mahon, representative from the Fifth, both Republicans, endorsed the plan.

Charge of Murder Can't Be Made in Mystery Till Body Is Found.

SONS STICK TO STORY.

A murder mystery with no positive proof that a murder has been committed is the predicament in which the state's attorney's office and authorities of the village of Burr Oak find themselves.

They are confused by the Szymanski, who disappeared Thursday night from the home in Burr Oak of Mrs. Otto Wielgorecki, a widow, whom he intended to marry, was murdered. They can find no trace of the body, or, in legal parlance, establish the corpus delicti, however, and until this is done no charge of murder can be made against any one, according to Assistant State's Attorney Stephen A. Malato.

Theodore A. Wielgorecki and his brother, Otto, both in custody, are under their statements found to be yesterday when they claim they beat Szymanski to death. They claim he beat Szymanski when he found him asleep in their mother's home and drove him out. They say that, despite their efforts to restrain him, he committed suicide by jumping into a clayhole. All day parties dragged the clayhole and the Calumet river, but no trace of the body was found.

When the druggers abandoned their search late at night the Blue Island police announced that they were satisfied that it will not be found in either the river or the clay hole, and a search is to be conducted of his home to see if he is still alive.

"Before the Wielgorecki boys can be booked," said Mr. Malato, "the body of the missing man must be found. It must be established that he is dead."

LAWYER ASSERTS GEARY ROBBED HIM BY TRICK.

Man Who Caused Panic in Cafe Arrested on Charge of Holding Up Samuel E. Foor.

Samuel E. Foor, a lawyer, caused the arrest yesterday of Eugene Geary of 3024 Groveland avenue on a charge of robbing him in a saloon at Twenty-third street and Wabash avenue.

Foor went to the saloon in response to Geary, he says, and was attacked by Geary and two other men. Geary's head is alleged, held a revolver to the lawyer's head while the other man robbed him.

Geary caused a panic at the saloon recently by firing a shot at one of the employees who attempted to eject him.

Secretary of State Bolts When
"Miss Love, Your Cousin," Tries to Embrace Him.

At the conclusion of Secretary of State Bryan's address in the Auditorium yesterday a small woman crowded her way through the audience to the speaker's platform. She elbowed her way between several preachers until she neared the head of the United States department of state.

"O, Mr. Bryan," she called, "I'm your cousin. Don't you know me? My name is Miss Love, and I'm a long lost cousin."

"Is that so?" queried the secretary. "That's barely possible, but I confess I don't recall ever having heard of you."

"But it's true, O, Mr. Bryan, I'm just going to hug you."

Her arms reached for the Nebraskan's neck. He caught them before they had completed the circle, however.

"Not now—not until the relationship has been better established," Secretary Bryan said.

He pushed her arms away and hurried from the stage.
